EDITORIAL POLICY: Published quarterly in May, August, November, and February, CRIMINOLOGY is interdisciplinary in nature, devoted to crime and deviant behavior, as found in sociology, psychology, psychiatry, law, and social work, as well as newer disciplines such as urban design, systems analysis, and decision theory as applied to crime and criminal justice. The major emphasis is on empirical research and scientific methodology, and articles reporting on original research are given priority. Articles which review the literature or deal with theoretical issues stated in the literature are also desired if they help to establish an empirical base for the study of the issues dealt with and suggest the types of investigations which might properly be carried out in the future.
